Brazil Awaits
Return of Swiss Envoy

By DENNIS REDMONT
Associated Press Writer
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Buckets of champagne and a welcome-home banquet today awaited Giovanni Bucher, the Swiss ambassador kidnapped by terrorists 39 days ago and ransomed by the Brazilian government with the flight of 70 Brazilian prisoners to political asylum in Chile.

The ambassador's butler began making plans for the banquet after a Varig Airlines Boeing 707 took off at midnight for Santiago carrying the 70 prisoners, the largest number ever released as ransom in a political kidnapping.

The jetliner arrived at Santiago's Pudahuel International Airport at 4:22 a.m. A Chilean Foreign Ministry official said Bucher would be released as soon as news agency photographs of the arriving prisoners reached Brazil.

Photographers and television cameramen were the only persons allowed on the ramp as the prisoners—59 men and 11 women—disembarked. The prisoners were not allowed to speak with newsmen. Plainclothes police patrolled the terminal, and Chilean air force personnel maintained security outside on the ramp.

Along with the prisoners and the plane crew, the jetliner carried three children and 35 security guards. The children were those of prisoner Bruno Piloa, who was freed with his wife. The crew members and guards remained aboard the plane while it refueled for the flight back to Brazil.

Some prisoners were laughing and some were flashing the "V" sign as they stepped off the plane.

Two buses took the prisoners to a police barracks in Santiago where they were to remain for the day.

Brazilian President Emilio Garrastazu Médici signed a decree exiling the prisoners forever as "dangerous to national security."

Bucher, 57, was the fourth diplomat kidnapped in Brazil in two years.

Columnist Pulls Real
Switch, Interviews
Himself About Career

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Over the last 27 years as a columnist I have interviewed more than 1,500 people. Most were celebrities, some were unspeakable bores, and others were simple men and women with life stories so touching they'd make a stone burst into tears.

During this period many readers have written in suggesting that, since I had put so many others on the spot, that I do the same thing to myself. For a columnist to interview himself seems to me an exercise in vainglory.

But, since it is a dull day down at the depot and my barber tells me he doesn't have any haircuts planned that are worth watching, let us bow to the public will.

So here goes:

Q. What would you be if you weren't a columnist?

A. Probably unemployed.

Q. Does it take any special equipment to be a columnist?

A. Not particularly, except an interest centered on people rather than on events. People themselves are the main event. Since a columnist spends a great part of his time in a swivel chair staring at the ceiling waiting for ideas, it is wise for him to buy suits with two pairs of pants.

Q. Will Rogers said he never met a man he didn't like. Is that true of you?

A. No indeed! I think every human being has a story worth telling, but that doesn't mean he is worth liking. I feel sorry for everyone alive, because life scars us all, but I like only

Worker, Safe
Still Missing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Little Rock Police said early today that no evidence had been found to indicate the whereabouts of Lee Timpler, 23, a Little Rock service station attendant who disappeared from his job early Tuesday.

Jim Watkins, the station manager, said that $250 and a large quantity of tires and batteries also were missing.

An attendant at the same station was robbed and fatally shot late last year.

Fire Hits Old
Folks Home, 9
Dead, 48 Hurt

By GARY LUHR

Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Fire swept through a four-story senior citizens home early today, killing nine occupants and injuring at least 48 other persons, authorities said.

The blaze began about 2:15 a.m. EST at the Westminster Terrace Presbyterian Home for Senior Citizens, and was discovered by the night nurse, Mrs. Helen Turner.

The building, southeast of Louisville, was evacuated and the uninjured residents were taken to hospitals, a nearby church and neighboring residences.

Seven were pronounced dead at one hospital and two at another. Of the injured, four were listed in critical condition.

Mrs. Turner said she heard a crackling sound, went to investigate and saw smoke pouring out of the chapel area. She alerted the fire department, then went to the home's infirmary and shut the room's doors.

A few minutes later the automatic fire alarm went off. The alarm also closed inside center hall doors, closing of the central stairs and elevators. Many residents left down stairs at each end of the building, which has a capacity of 91 occupants.

Garland Miller, chief of the Buechel Fire Department, said "we had to bring 50 out through the windows." He added, "To my

Senate Redistricting
Plan Would Change
Hempstead to Dist. 4

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two bills were introduced in the Arkansas Senate Wednesday to draw new congressional districts in tune with population changes reflected in the 1970 federal census.

The bills were alike except for the placement of two counties, Independence and Arkansas.

Sens. John F. Bearden of Leachville and Nick Wilson of Pocahontas introduced one, which became Senate Bill 58, and Sen. Bill H. Walmsley of Bald Knob introduced the other, SB 59.

Under both proposals, these changes would be made:

—Baxter County would be shifted from the 2nd District to the 3rd District.

—Fulton, Izard, Stone and Sharp counties will move from the 2nd District to the 1st District.

—Saline County would be moved from the 4th District to the 2nd.

University,
A&M Merger
Is Approved

By ROBERT SHAW

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The proposed merger of the University of Arkansas and Arkansas A&M College received swift approval of the Arkansas House Wednesday.

The House voted 95-0 to approve a bill that would authorize a merger July 1 and then sent the measure to the Senate.

Meanwhile, the House State Agencies Committee discussed Gov. Dale Bumpers' proposal for a reorganization of state government for more than three hours, but decided to hold a public hearing on it next Tuesday before deciding whether to recommend the legislation for passage.

The UA-A&M merger bill, sponsored by Reps. Bennie Ryburn of Monticello and G. W. Turner of Pine Bluff, was the only major piece of legislation considered by either the House or Senate Wednesday. The two chambers planned to recess today and take a three-day week-end.

The boards of trustees of both the University of Arkansas and A&M have worked out the details of a merger, but they need legislative approval to carry it out. The Bumpers administration has taken no position on the proposal.

Some legislators doubted whether the merger could occur without increasing the appropriation for the Monticello college, but Ryburn said he did not think it would. Rep. L. L. "Doc" Bryan of Russellville said he believed Ryburn would discover that the school would demand "twice as much" as it receives now if the merger is approved.

Ryburn said the merger virtually assure A&M's obtaining accreditation of its forestry school by the Society of American Foresters. The A&M forestry school is the only one in the state.

Ryburn said some university personnel would be made available to A&M to expand the forestry school without additional cost.

If the Senate passes the bill and Bumpers signs it, the merger would be the second the legislature has approved for the UA. The 1969 legislature authorized the merger of the University and Little Rock University, which is now the UA at Little Rock.

Supporters of Bumpers' reorganization bill, which the governor considers a "most vital" part of his legislative package, tried to obtain a "do pass" tag from the State Agencies Committee, but the committee refused to report the measure out without first holding the public hearing.

ard, Pike and Hempstead counties will change from the 3rd to the 4th District.

Under Walmsley's proposal, Independence County would remain in the 2nd District and Arkansas County would be in the 1st.

The Bearden — Wilson bill places Arkansas in the 2nd and Independence in the 1st.

A bill identical to that introduced by Bearden and Wilson was introduced in the House by Reps. Roscoe Brown of Jonesboro, Waller Day of Blytheville and John Miller of Melbourne.

Each Senate bill was read once, but objections to second readings stalled further progress on the measures. Walmsley objected to the second reading of the Bearden-Wilson bill. Sen. Dorothy Allen of Brinkley objected to the second reading of Walmsley's proposal.

Bearden said Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, was neutral on the proposal. Mills represents the 2nd District.

Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., of the 1st District favors the Bearden-Wilson plan, Bearden said.

The shift in counties is necessary because of population changes in the state since the previous redistricting and census period.

Under the redistricting bills, the four districts would look like this:

1st District — Fulton, Izard, Sharp, Stone, Randolph, Clay, Lawrence, Greene, Jackson, Craighead, Polk, Mississippi, Woodruff, Cross, St. Francis, Crittenden, Monroe, Lee, Phillips and either Arkansas or Independence.

2nd District — Cleburne, Conway, Faulkner, White, Perry, Saline, Pulaski, Lonoke, Prairie and either Arkansas or Independence.

3rd District — Benton, Carroll, Boone, Marion, Baxter, Madison, Washington, Newton, Searcy, Crawford, Franklin, Johnson, Pope, Van Buren, Logan, Sebastian, Yell, Scott, Polk, Montgomery and Garland.

4th District — Howard, Pike, Sevier, Little River, Hempstead, Hot Spring, Grant Jefferson, Clark, Dallas, Cleveland, Lincoln, Desha, Nevada, Ouachita, Calhoun, Bradley, Drew, Miller, Lafayette, Columbia, Union, Ashley and Chicot.

A light freezing rain was falling and the skies were heavily overcast as the hatless Baker, carrying an attache case and wearing a black overcoat over a grey pinstriped suit, walked up to the prison, which he had sought to avoid for nearly four years of legal battle.

"Do you still maintain your innocence?" he was asked.

"Sure," he answered softly, shrugging his shoulders.

Baker will be eligible for parole on Dec. 28, 1971. If parole is not granted he would be released mandatorily on April 23, 1973, which takes into consideration time off for good behavior.

U.S. Bombers
Join Push to Reopen Road

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers have joined the campaign to reopen Phnom Penh's highway to the sea, informed sources reported today. It is the first time the eight-jet Stratoforters have been reported bombing in Cambodia in direct support of ground troops since the U.S. ground operations across the border last May and June.

The sources said the B52s pounded the Pich Nil and Stung Chhay mountain passes on Highway 4 southwest of the Cambodian capital to prepare the way for more than 13,000 South Vietnamese and Cambodian troops advancing from north and south.

Extensive enemy fortifications and bunkers were reported on the heights above Pich Nil, about 60 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, and Stung Chhay, 35 miles farther south. The

in Prison

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Robert G. "Bobby" Baker, who traded on his friendship with former President Lyndon B. Johnson, entered federal prison today to begin serving a sentence for cheating the government.

Handcuffed and escorted by two U.S. marshals, the tight-lipped Baker walked through the iron gate of the high-walled Lewisburg Penitentiary to start a 1-3 year term for larceny, income tax evasion, fraud and conspiracy.

"I shall do my duty and I shall do it with honor," Baker told newsmen shortly before he surrendered to a federal official at the courthouse in this small college community in central Pennsylvania.

After signing the commitment papers, Baker was driven by the marshals the three miles to the penitentiary which houses approximately 1,400 men.

A light freezing rain was falling and the skies were heavily overcast as the hatless Baker, carrying an attache case and wearing a black overcoat over a grey pinstriped suit, walked up to the prison, which he had sought to avoid for nearly four years of legal battle.

Post Office
Can't Block
Obscene Mail

By BARRY SCHWEID

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court unanimously stripped Post Office officials today of the power to block or detain mail to dealers in "obscene" materials.

The court's opinion, by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., said the authority, dating back to 1890, is a form of censorship forbidden by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Agreeing with federal district courts in California and Georgia the high court invalidated two laws.

Under one, dating back to 1890, the Postmaster General could have letters stamped "unlawful" and returned to the senders if an administrative officer decided the intended recipient was obtaining money through the mail for obscene or indecent articles or devices.

Under the second law, enacted in 1960, the Postmaster General had the power to obtain a court order permitting him to detain mail to a dealer the government decided traffics in obscenity.

Quoting Oliver Wendell Holmes, the late justice who was one of the most eloquent civil libertarians in the nation's history, Brennan wrote: "The United States may give up the Post Office when it sees fit, but while it carries it on the use of the mails is almost as much a part of free speech as the right to use our tongues."

North Vietnamese took control of the two passes last Nov. 21, cutting Phnom Penh off from the port of Kompong Som and causing shortages of fuel and other imports in the capital.

A South Vietnamese armored column was pushing north toward Stung Chhay today after smashing through a North Vietnamese pocket of resistance and killing 31 enemy troops, the government in Saigon said. A spokesman said there were no South Vietnamese casualties.

Another force of South Vietnamese marines was reported maneuvering into position for an assault on the heights of Pich Nil. Observers in Phnom Penh expected the battle for Pich Nil to be hard and bloody because the North Vietnamese have had almost two months to dig in and fortify the heights above the highway.

Elsewhere across Indochina only small skirmishes were reported.

The U.S. Command's weekly casualty report said 27 Americans were killed in combat last week and 83 were wounded, the lowest total battlefield casualties in more than five years. The death toll was the lowest in four weeks.

Another 27 Americans died from such nonhostile causes as accidents or illness.

The command said a total of 44,268 Americans now have been reported killed in action since Jan. 1, 1961, another 9,091 died of nonhostile causes, 293,612 have been wounded in action and 1,434 are listed as missing or captured.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 277 of its troops were killed and 688 wounded in action last week.

Ethics Code
for Officials Introduced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. B. D. "Doug" Brandon of Little Rock introduced a bill in the Arkansas House Wednesday that would establish a code of ethics for public officials.

The bill is similar to a Brandon measure that passed the 1969 legislature, but which then Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller vetoed because of some amendments aimed at Rockefeller that were added in the Senate by Sen. Guy H. "Mutt" Jones of Conway.

The new measure would establish a code of ethics for "every person holding a position of public trust" in the executive, legislative and judicial branches. Included would be appointed as well as elected officials.

The proposal would prohibit public officials from using their positions for personal gain. It would require them to file statements with the secretary of state detailing business activities in which they receive more than $1,500 in compensation during a one-year period.

It would also require a public official to file a statement showing any financial interest in excess of $1,000 in any corporation, firm or enterprise subject to the jurisdiction of a regulatory agency.

The measure would prohibit any public or professional activity that he "might reasonably expect" would induce him to disclose confidential information of the state.

State Sen. Milt Earnhart of Fort Smith introduced a bill in the Arkansas Senate Wednesday setting out regulations surrounding the holding of rock festivals in the state.

The measure provides that city or county authorities would have to be notified 30 days prior to any festival and that backers would have to post a corporate surety bond of $50,000 with city or county officials.

Promoters of a festival also would have to provide satisfactory water supply, sewage facilities, sleeping areas and other facilities health officials may deem necessary.

Earnhart also introduced a resolution asking the state Public Service Commission to place human needs first in determining how natural gas supplies will be utilized.

The PSC has been hearing arguments on a petition by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. to allow Arkla to withdraw from long-term industrial contracts.

Sen. Harold King of Sheridan introduced a bill to appropriate $900,000 for the Arkansas Children's Colony from revenues derived from Act 239 of 1969, which is the real estate transfer tax.

The act allotted funds to the colony, but the state Supreme Court held that while the tax was legal, the appropriations were unconstitutional.

Sen. Oscar Alagood of Little Rock introduced a bill to exempt from the Arkansas Medical Practices Act service rendered by a physician's trained assistant or a nurse when under the direct supervision of a licensed physician. The measure would clear away legal obstacles faced by some free clinics staffed by medical trainees.

Sen. Joe Ford of Little Rock introduced in the Senate a joint resolution for a proposed constitutional amendment to provide a four-year term for state constitutional officers and to increase the pay for those positions.

The resolution would bar the governor from succeeding himself after a four-year term, but other constitutional officers would be able to hold successive terms without limit.

The salary for governor would be raised to $25,000 a year. Other salaries that would be provided under the amendment per year would be $12,500 for secretary of state, treasurer, auditor and land commissioner, and $15,000 for attorney general and $7,500 for lieutenant governor.

Sen. Virgil T. Fletcher of Benton introduced a resolution to propose a state constitutional amendment to permit the governor to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons in death penalty cases only upon the recommendation of the state Supreme Court majority.

Former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller last month commuted to life all 15 death sentences pending at that time in Arkansas prisons and later granted addi-

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — ABC's News Department was tackling a tough assignment Wednesday night when it tried to turn statistics and percentages of a nationwide poll on major issues into a visually interesting television program.

"National Polling Day: What Americans Think" was an hour-long special based on questions put to 3,000 Americans by Louis Harris. The cross-section was asked about youth, the economy, war and law and order. Some majority opinions were surprising. Sixty-three per cent favored imposition of wage and price controls; 70 per cent believed law and order had broken down; 77 per cent approved the recent prisoner of war raid near Hanoi.

But quoting numbers is not enough and it seemed that almost frantic efforts were made to pack the program with visual aids. So many visiting experts and staff specialists were included that none was able to speak more than a few sentences. One economist was chopped off in midsentence so they could run a short tape of a man-on-the-street interview.

Frank Reynolds earnestly steered the busy program and Harris gravely rolled out his statistics, offering bits of interpretation here and there.

Most interesting moment came toward the end when Bill Moyers, onetime press secretary to President Lyndon B.

Johnson and one of the guest experts, observed that he would be "disturbed if a president paid attention to a poll like this."

Pollster Harris then recalled that President John F. Kennedy once told him, "You can't make decisions on the basis of polls but on the merits of cases—but then you want to look around and see if you are within the jaws of the governed."

The exchange seemed to put the program into focus.

Small Church Wedding for Rockefeller

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Winthrop Paul Rockefeller and his fiancée, Miss Deborah Sage, say they want a small church wedding with just the family attending. The couple's engagement was announced Sunday.

The couple told reporters they have tentatively set their wedding for late spring or early summer. Rockefeller, son of former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, said the ceremony would take place in Arkansas, Connecticut or Williamsburg, Va.

The couple said Williamsburg was a central location for both families, and historically, both of their families have ties in Williamsburg.

Miss Sage, who was born in New York, is the daughter of Mrs. Nicholas Chryssicopoulos of Athens and London. Miss Sage has, for the past two years, been living in Athens where her step-father is in shipping.

The couple said if they are married in Williamsburg, the wedding will probably take place in the historical Bruton Parish Church that dates back to 1761.

However, the couple agreed there were still a lot of details to be worked out before any thing definite can be decided.

The young Rockefeller said he would continue his education after he and Miss Sage are married, and the couple will live at the Rockefeller farm near Morriton.

CBS is doing some novel programming again. The series that started last September as "Storefront Lawyers" will emerge on February 3 as "Men at Law," and the network is calling it a new series, probably because the storefront will be dropped and the emphasis on youth eliminated. Robert Foxworth, one of the original co-stars, will have a dominant role, co-starring with Gerald S. O'Loughlin, new to the cast. Two other young actors who originally co-starred with Foxworth will have less important roles.

Canada Denies Abbie Hoffman
OTTAWA (AP) — Abbie Hoffman is being denied permission to enter Canada.

Hoffman, one of the Chicago Seven, had been scheduled for an interview at the University of Western Ontario, followed by a speaking engagement at Dalhousie University.

Bobcats Beat Bradley in Tournament

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Consistently popping the net from start to finish, the Hope Bobcats built up an early lead and then emptied the bench in the second half for an 85-56 pounding over the Bradley Bears in the Henderson State tournament.

Now, with a fine 8-3 season record, the big Cats will journey back to Arkadelphia tonight for the second round of the tourney.

Led by big John Dudley, the Bobcats dominated the boards and used a tight defense to build up as much as a 23 point lead in the first half.

Taking the first period upoff, the Bobcats scored quickly on two goals by David Briggs and a free throw by Dudley.

After the Bears called time, Dudley and Parker Powell teamed up for goals and an 11-5 lead, with Ben Harris heading up the Bears attack.

With 2:17 left in the period and now leading 15-8, Hope called a time out to possibly open up new plans.

Immediately afterwards, Bill Rowland got into the scoring act with a jumpshot for a 17-8 score. Four points by Powell and one by Dudley gave the Bobcats a first quarter ending 22-10, lead.

Once again Briggs started the scoring and after Dudley and Steve Harris both hit goals, Hope stretched out an 18 point lead with 6:19 left in the first half of play.

Later, with 4:18 left in the first half, Dudley hit both ends of a two shot foul for a 20 point lead. Trading point for point the rest of the half, the Bobcats went to the dressing room at halftime with a 32-20 score.

Getting the ball downcourt quickly after the third quarter upoff, Briggs threw the ball to Dudley, who simply laid it wup and from then on the reserves saw plenty of action, although at least one starter remained in the whole time.

Powell, Rowland, and Briggs all three teamed with each other to build the lead to 56-32 with 5:40 left, before Bradley called time to discuss the situation.

Back in play, only Buddy Ingram could hit the net as the Bobcats had fell to 16 points, 58-42, now entering the fourth and final period.

Scoring in the final period, the cats added 13 points to their lead with a 25 point last quarter.

Powell opened the scoring, and after he again hit the net twice, along with Harris' one, Hope held a 66-44 lead with 5:51 left to play.

Then, Lynn Norton, who did not start because of a hurt ankle, broke one in followed by shots from Tim White, Roger Newton, and Ingram for a 74-50 margin with just less than four minutes to play.

Newton and White then hit the rest of the points, except for goals by Ronnie Massanelli and Jimmy Boyette, both with less than a minute left for the final points.

Leading Hope was Dudley making 26 points, Powell netting 13, Briggs hitting 13, Newton making 7, and Rowland contributing six.

Also tonight, the Ladycats and Lady Bears host Bradley in Jones Hall House with the first game starting at 8:30 p.m. Traveling to the south, the Bobkittens and 8th grade play, while the B-Bruin game was cancelled.

Coaches Keep Scholastic Requirement

HOUSTON (AP) — The quietest NCAA convention in years ended Wednesday with members voting to retain the controversial 1.6 scholastic requirement and the spotlight shifted to the American Football Coaches Association for its coach of the year award today.

Eight coaches are in the running, but Bob Devaney of Nebraska's national champions has virtually been ruled out since he was scheduled to fly home this morning to help President Nixon honor the Cornhuskers. Devaney reportedly told the AFCA he would stay here if he was the coach of the year.

The other seven are Bob Blackman of Dartmouth, Frank Lautner of Toledo, Cal Stoll of Wake Forest, Alex Agase of Northwestern, Charlie McClenon of Louisiana State, Darrell Royal of Texas and John Rals-ton of Stanford. Blackman and Lautner have switched to Illinois and Iowa, respectively, since the voting last month.

The NCAA also voted down the other significant proposal before the one to abolish the 1.6 rule. That was an amendment sponsored by the policy-making NCAA Council that would have given it the power to review actions of the national organization's various rules committees.

The football coaches had feared that passage of the amendment could have signaled a possible return to one-platoon football as a means of combating the rising costs that have permeated the sport.

The most sweeping legislation adopted made freshmen eligible for immediate participation in all college division sports — actually adding football and basketball to other sports, which had been approved for freshmen in the past.

Members turned down, however, a proposal to let freshmen compete in football and basketball at the university division level, where they can play all other sports.

The 1.6 grade average which an athlete must predict as an incoming freshman and then maintain was kept on the books despite opposition from a group of 32 schools in the Northeast. In other action, the membership:

—Turned down a resolution that would have permitted summer basketball competition by student-athletes on teams in leagues approved by the NCAA.

—Voted 166-125 not to let Tony Lema memorial award winners participate in intercollegiate golf. The award consists of non-college-administered aid.

—Enabled an institution to have an off-campus game site designated as part of its property for recruiting purposes when its on-campus facility cannot be used due to conditions beyond its control.

—Lowered the age limit from 20 to 19 under which alien athletes may compete in their own country without loss of collegiate eligibility. This was intended to give American boys a better chance to compete with Canadian hockey imports at the college level.

—Approved formal procedure by which a university division school whose team is decimated

Memphis S. Making Like Bigtimers

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

They were called the Tigers, but for seasons only looked like underdogs.

When Gene Bartow took over as coach of the Memphis State basketball team this year, he vowed to stick some teeth into its offense.

He did—and the Tigers have been putting the bite on the Missouri Valley Conference since.

With Wednesday night's 113-97 victory over St. Joseph's of Indiana, Memphis has a 12-2 record this year, a shot at its first conference crown and a chance of national recognition.

It's been a long time. Their cinderella showing re-creates dreams of past successes—the 1956-57 club that almost upset mighty Bradley in the finals of the National Invitation Tournament, the winning years from 1953 to 1963 and the wonderful 20-3 season of '60-61.

The Memphis State basketball program hit the skids thereafter and the Tigers turned to lambs. In fact, they only had one winning season in the last seven.

Bartow inherited a team that was 1-15 in the MVC last year and 6-20 overall, and turned the youngsters into overnight winners with status in the national rankings.

The 19th-rated Tigers, led by the coach they call "The Miracle Worker," beat North Texas, Bradley and 16th-ranked Louisville enroute to a 3-0 mark and first place in the MVC, an unfamiliar but lofty feeling.

Fourth-ranked Penn also continued as a tough item, knocking off backyard rival St. Joseph's 62-58; No. 7 Jacksonville powdered Manhattan 67-40; 13th-ranked Villanova stormed by DePaul 99-59 and Louisville downed Dayton 73-68.

James Douglas scored 25 points for Memphis, which scored 100 points for the fourth time this year and closed in on its season's total last year. In 26 games in 1969-70, the Tigers had 1,809 points. They've scored 1,281 so far this season.

Steve Bilsky made a jump shot and Dave Wohl converted four straight free throws to bail out Penn in the closing moments. The contest capped a Philadelphia doubleheader as Villanova took the opener behind Howard Porter's 19-points and 19 rebounds.

Defensive demon Artis Gilmore shut off Manhattan single handedly for Jacksonville and Louisville overcame a 29-point output by Tom Crosswhite to beat Dayton.

Bradley beat Drake 88-85, Pitt punished Davidson 82-67; Tulane surprised Florida State 88-69; Ohio State hammered West Virginia 83-74; Virginia whipped Wake Forest 86-81 and North Carolina State beat Duke 93-89 in other games.

Floridians Dropped Back Into Cellar

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Floridians couldn't reach high enough for the ball and, when they did, couldn't hold onto it often enough. And that was enough to drop them back into the cellar in the American Basketball Association East.

Kentucky's 133-117 romp over the Floridians was Wednesday night's only ABA contest. The National Basketball Association was idle.

The Colonels, who cut the Virginia Squires' lead in the East to five games, led only 58-53 at the half before Dan Issel and Darrel Carrier led an outburst that put Kentucky comfortably in front 77-82 after three periods. Issel finished with 31 points and Carrier hit 24 while Larry Jones had 26 for the losers.

The Floridians outshot their hosts 53 to 42 per cent—but they were outrebanded 62-46 and committed 12 more turnovers than the Colonels to absorb their 29th loss in 47 games and fall one-half game behind fifth-place Pittsburgh and 1½ games off Virginia's pace.

by accident or illness—such as Wichita State and Marshall—may have freshmen become eligible in football and basketball.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, called the convention the "most harmonious" in a long time because the various committees finally "have learned to work together."

Texas Youth No. 1 Draft in Baseball

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Bowie Kuhn opened Wednesday's annual winter free agent draft by reminding the participating clubs that the draft has paid off with major league talent in the past.

"There were 22 players in major league line-ups last summer who were draft selections in the past two years," the commissioner said.

The Philadelphia Phillies couldn't have been very impressed. The Phillies, who finished fifth in the National League's East Division last year, were scheduled to pick fifth in the draft's regular phase which selected players who had never been chosen before. When their turn came up, they passed.

"Frankly, there was no one available that interested us when our turn came up," a Phillies' spokesman said.

"We had three names on our list," said Paul Owens, Philadelphia's farm director, "and all of them were picked before our turn came up."

One of the players the Phillies were interested in was third baseman John David Hilton of Pearland, Tex., chosen by San Diego as the No. 1 pick in the draft.

Pitchers were a major shopping area in the first round of the draft. Eight of the 23 players selected are hurlers.

After San Diego chose Hilton, the Chicago White Sox picked right-hander Larry O'Brien of Omaha, Neb., and Montreal followed by selecting John Scalia of Brentwood, N.Y. Kansas City chose catcher John Wathan of San Diego and after Philadelphia passed, Milwaukee selected left-hander Don Collins of Lyons, Ga.

A total of 127 players were selected in the regular phase of the draft before the clubs swung into the secondary phase, selecting players who had been picked before but returned to the pool of eligibles when they did not sign. Another 145 were picked there, bringing the total for the day to 272.

It was in the secondary phase that the Kansas City Royals chose Archie Manning, the University of Mississippi quarterback, for their Waterloo Class A farm team. Manning is a shortstop.

Tech's Lowery Retains Top Position

NEW YORK (AP) — College basketball scoring leader Johnny Neumann of Mississippi, premier rebounder Artis Gilmore of Jacksonville and top free shooter Greg Lowery of Texas Tech retained their No. 1 positions this week although their averages suffered a bit.

Neumann, a sophomore, last week was averaging 44.4 points per game but dipped to 42.4 according to figures released today by the National Collegiate Sports Services, but it was still good enough to keep Neumann comfortably ahead of runner-up Austin Carr of Notre Dame with a 38.6 average.

Gilmore tumbled from third to ninth in scoring but the 7-foot-2 star's 24.6 rebounds per game—down slightly from 25.8 a week ago—left him well ahead of Kermit Washington of American University at 21.7.

Lowery slipped from .920 to .908 at the charity line. Bobby Rollins of Southern Methodist, with an .894 average, held off John Roche of South Carolina at .890 for second place.

Tom Bush of Drake, last week's leading field goal shooter at .688, hit only six of 24 shots from the floor in his past two games and plummeted to 11th place.

Lunn Going After the Crosby Title

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Bob Lunn is a big, balding guy, almost certainly the best of the young players on the pro golf tour—and almost completely unknown to the general public.

"I guess I'm not very colorful," Lunn admitted today as he sought his second victory in as many weeks in the first round of the $135,000 Bing Crosby National pro-amateur tournament.

"I just try to play the best golf I can."

And that has been pretty good.

He's won over $300,000 in the last three years, including $22,000 for his victory last week in the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open. It was his fifth tour victory, matching the career title accumulation of such well-known players as PGA champ Dave Stockton, Lee Trevino, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Johnny Pott.

And he's only 25.

Lunn, a husky, 220 pounder, worked on a San Francisco driving range after completing high school, won the National Public Links title, then turned pro late in 1966. He won only $1,871 in 1967, then broke through to two victories and a $100,000 season the following year.

He's unknown because he's non-controversial, very quiet and Mr. Nice Guy. Not goodie-goodie, just quiet and well-mannered. He's built along the lines of a professional football line-backer, but has a very soft voice. He doesn't drink, smoke or swear.

He doesn't do anything but play golf, well enough to beat Billy Casper in a playoff last week, to beat Arnold Palmer by a stroke at the Citrus last year, to beat Dave Hill in a playoff at Hartford the year before.

He has no hobbies. Everything is golf.

"People ask me what my hobby is and I don't know what to tell them," he said. "I want to lose some weight this year. Maybe that's my hobby, losing weight."

Lunn is one of the favorites for the $27,000 first prize in place.

Penbrooke Burrows of Jacksonville inherited the lead with a .746 average.

Jacksonville, 9-2, remained the nation's top offensive team with 107.4 points per game and Army, shooting for an unprecedented fourth successive title as the best defensive squad, moved ahead of last week's leader, Fairleigh-Dickinson, by limiting opponents to 56.3 points per game.

this 72-hole test that is being played on three Monterey peninsula courses. Spyglass Hill, Cypress Point and Pebble Beach. But he doesn't want to talk about it.

"Winning helps my confidence, but I can't let myself think about winning two in a row for too long a time," he said. "I might start pressing or somehow jinx myself. All I'm concerned about is to continue to play well."

Other leading contenders include Casper, Jack Nicklaus, Palmer, U.S. Open Champ Tony Jacklin, defending champion Bert Yancey, Trevino and Stockton.

Brodie Going Before Pro Grid Probers

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — San Francisco 49ers' quarterback John Brodie was expected to testify today before a federal grand jury here investigating the National Football League for possible antitrust violations.

Controversial quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets and New Orleans Saints' tight end Dave Parks appeared before the jury Wednesday and were critical of the powers of NFL owners and of Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

"There is no doubt about antitrust violations," Namath told newsmen. "They (the jury) asked for my opinion and I told them."

He cited the common draft of college players and standard player contract as examples of antitrust violations, saying, "A college player may not be happy about being drafted by a certain club, but he can't do anything about it. The same with a player who's not happy with his contract."

Namath said the jury asked him "about owners, players, coaches and the commissioner. They asked most about the option clause." The 27-year-old quarterback, who led the Jets to victory over the Baltimore Colts in the 1969 Super Bowl, would not say whether the jurors questioned him about his controversy with Rozelle in 1969 over Namath's part-ownership in the Bachelor's III Lounge, a New York night club.

Namath said that he was looking at the NFL "only from one side . . . the side of a player," and admitted that "looking at it from the owner's viewpoint," he thought that club owners deserved the right to do what was necessary to run their teams.

Asked if he thought owners or Rozelle should be jailed or convicted of antitrust violations, Namath said, "I don't know about that. It's above me."

Parks, 29, said the jury queried him on his transfer from the San Francisco 49ers to the Saints in 1968.

He claimed that Rozelle used his case as an example to discourage other players from playing out their options and to discourage owners from signing players who became free agents by playing out their contract. Parks said Rozelle's powers should be curtailed.

Parks played out his contract option with the 49ers to become a free agent. After signing with New Orleans, Rozelle ruled that the Saints had to compensate the 49ers and gave the 49ers the Saints' top draft pick in 1968 and 1969.

Three Games Thursday at Saratoga

Play resumed Wednesday night in the Saratoga Invitational Tournament and the Genoa Central Dragons posted their 10th win of the season by downing Murfreesboro 64 to 51. Lee Walker with 28 points led the winners.

Nashville's girls swamped Garland 66-22 with Barbara Gills tossing in 22 points. Pat Blair paced Garland with 18.

The Murfreesboro girls had no trouble in defeating Blevins 40 to 22. Linda Tomlinson scored 21 points for the winners while Cathy Montgomery led Blevins with 15.

Tournament favorite Mineral Springs lies up with the Garland boys at 6:30 p.m. Thursday. A girls game follows at 7:45 featuring Saratoga and Fouke. The third game at 9 o'clock pairs Spring Hill and Saratoga.

courage other players from playing out their options and to discourage owners from signing players who became free agents by playing out their contract. Parks said Rozelle's powers should be curtailed.

Parks played out his contract option with the 49ers to become a free agent. After signing with New Orleans, Rozelle ruled that the Saints had to compensate the 49ers and gave the 49ers the Saints' top draft pick in 1968 and 1969.

"Rozelle tried to put a stop to players playing out their options," Parks said Wednesday. He said the Saints' forfeiture of the draft picks "put a lot of pressure on me" because he felt he had to prove he was worth the price paid for him.

He suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in his first season with the Saints and has never reached the peak he attained at San Francisco, where he was an all-pro selection twice.

Ostriches differ from other birds in that they have only two toes on each foot.

lose his contract. If he ruffed in dummy he would make the rest of the tricks if trumps broke 2-2 but against the actual and rather normal 3-1 break he would have been shut out of dummy forever and would have had to lose two heart tricks.

South was about to fall into the trap when he saw that he had a fine safety play at his disposal. He discarded a heart from dummy on the third club.

This would not have helped him if either opponent held all the trumps but it took care of the actual 3-1 split. He simply won the heart shift with his ace, drew trumps with three leads, cashed his ace and king of trumps to dummy's eight and discarded his two little hearts on the high diamonds.

Don't Neglect Hernia; Correction Is Simple

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

serious. I did not consult a physician or tell my parents. My problem is I think I have a hernia. It is located in my scrotum and has been there for six years. As I grew it grew along with me. Now it is the size of an egg and is bothering me. Sometimes it hurts when I bump it against an object, then stops about five minutes later. My question is, if it is a hernia, what can I do? Can it be removed without a serious operation? Or if the possibility that it is a hernia is ruled out, what can it be?

Dear Reader—The only way to find out for certain what you have is from a medical examination. You are probably right about it being a hernia, and it should receive attention soon. True, you can go a long time without difficulty but difficulty can start rather suddenly.

The big danger is getting the loop of the bowel that forms the hernia caught or twisted. We call this a strangulated hernia. This obstructs the bowel, blocking normal passage of food. The loop of bowel may suffer from lack of circulation and, if untreated, develop gangrene. One can be very sick with an obstructed hernia.

Correction of a hernia of the type you may have is really very simple. The operation is not difficult and one is able to be up and about very quickly. There is no danger of damage to any other part of the body from the operation.

I don't think you need to worry about this being a cancer. You have let it go long enough that you can fairly well rule out that possibility. Sometimes cysts filled with water or fluid might be confused with a hernia. I would like to stress that the likelihood of your having anything serious is remote except for a hernia and that can easily be corrected.

Now one more point. You have been taking an unnecessary risk with your life for some time. A strangulated hernia is nothing to regard lightly. There is absolutely no logical reason for you not to have told your parents or certainly your doctor about your problem. There is nothing to be ashamed of except having neglected to do something about it.

Your problem points up the danger that can occur because of fear to seek attention for a problem that is related to sex. How foolish we are when we try to ignore the normal aspects of the human body. You are not alone in this. Many an intelligent woman has allowed a tumor of the breast to advance beyond the point when treatment could have cured her problem.

I wish it were possible to really impress upon everyone that any mass or tumor anywhere on the body should be examined by a doctor as soon as possible—not neglected. Many lives could be saved and much suffering avoided.

Stopping the Pill may have effects some women hadn't counted upon. Pimples may develop two or three months later. The truth is the Pill has an antipimple effect. Dr. Mervyn L. Elgart, a dermatologist at George Washington University, warns, however, that the Pill should not be used to clear up "teen-age acne." The Pill and sex hormones are able to turn off the growth process. The long bones calcify completely, sooner than they should.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am 16 years old and have a problem which I think may be serious. I did not consult a physician or tell my parents. My problem is I think I have a hernia. It is located in my scrotum and has been there for six years. As I grew it grew along with me. Now it is the size of an egg and is bothering me. Sometimes it hurts when I bump it against an object, then stops about five minutes later. My question is, if it is a hernia, what can I do? Can it be removed without a serious operation? Or if the possibility that it is a hernia is ruled out, what can it be?

Dear Reader—The only way to find out for certain what you have is from a medical examination. You are probably right about it being a hernia, and it should receive attention soon. True, you can go a long time without difficulty but difficulty can start rather suddenly.

The big danger is getting the loop of the bowel that forms the hernia caught or twisted. We call this a strangulated hernia. This obstructs the bowel, blocking normal passage of food. The loop of bowel may suffer from lack of circulation and, if untreated, develop gangrene. One can be very sick with an obstructed hernia.

Correction of a hernia of the type you may have is really very simple. The operation is not difficult and one is able to be up and about very quickly. There is no danger of damage to any other part of the body from the operation.

I don't think you need to worry about this being a cancer. You have let it go long enough that you can fairly well rule out that possibility. Sometimes cysts filled with water or fluid might be confused with a hernia. I would like to stress that the likelihood of your having anything serious is remote except for a hernia and that can easily be corrected.

Now one more point. You have been taking an unnecessary risk with your life for some time. A strangulated hernia is nothing to regard lightly. There is absolutely no logical reason for you not to have told your parents or certainly your doctor about your problem. There is

F111 Search Hampered by Weather

HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Heavy rain and poor visibility Wednesday continued to postpone search efforts in the rugged Ozark National Forest near here for a missing F111A warplane.

The aircraft and its two-man crew disappeared Friday on a test flight from Carswell AFB at Fort Worth, Tex., and an intensive search was begun.

Aerial photographs indicated the jet may have crashed in the Ozark Mountains in Northwest Arkansas, but the Air Force said Wednesday the plane may have gone down in Louisiana or Southern Mississippi.

An Air Force spokesman said Wednesday, however, the plane reportedly was in radio contact with Houston control Friday which would indicate the plane was flying southeast instead of northeast.

"We are not ruling out the possibility in Arkansas, but this information has caused us to turn out attention down there," said Capt. Tom Lauterback, information officer at Carswell. He said search efforts are still continuing in other areas, however.

The Air Force statement Wednesday was the first indication the plane may have crossed East Texas into Louisiana and Mississippi.

Bill Designed to Freeze Bank Stock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A bill was introduced Wednesday in the Arkansas Senate that would freeze the First Arkansas Bankstock Corp. at its present level and prohibit any future bank holding companies.

Sen. John F. Bearden Jr. of Leachville introduced the bill, which became Senate Bill 49.

The corporation, known as FABCO, is composed of Worthen Bank & Trust Co. in Little Rock, Arkansas First National Bank of Hot Springs, and the Bank of Stephens at Stephens. Worthen is the state's largest banking institution.

Bearden told reporters that bankers in his district, which contains Craighead, Poinsett and Mississippi counties, feared that if bank holding companies proliferated they might be forced to join one or be unable to remain competitive.

Priest, Four Others Deny Charges

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Rev. Philip Berrigan, the imprisoned antiwar priest, and four others have denied they were part of an alleged bomb-kidnap plot, scoring the charges as a government attempt to discredit the antiwar movement.

Berrigan, 47, and five others were indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury in Harrisburg, Pa., on charges of plotting to kidnap presidential aide Henry Kissinger and to blow up heat tunnels in government buildings.

The grand jury met on the case again Wednesday and Asst. U.S. Atty. Guy Goodwin said one reason for continuing the probe was the possibility that some of those being questioned might become defendants.

Two of the defendants were released on bail after spending a night in jail and three others were held in lieu of $50,000 bond apiece.

Berrigan remained at the federal prison in Danbury, Conn., where he is serving a six-year sentence for destroying draft records in Maryland.

His brother, the Rev. Daniel Berrigan, 49, who is serving a three-year sentence at Danbury on similar charges, was one of seven persons named as co-conspirators in the case but not formally charged.

"The Berrigans met with attorney William Kunstler in the prison and through him released a statement likening the government's charges to the Nazis' burning of the Reichstag building in 1933.

"Knowing that most Americans are against that war, the government has embarked on a tragic and outrageous course to stigmatize millions of morally dedicated opponents of our military involvement in Indochina as violent and deranged people," they said.

Three Hendrix College students from Hope have been elected members of Alpha Chi National Scholastic Fraternity. Alpha Chi honors with admittance those students who have shown a high degree of scholarship during at least two years of college work. They are Betty Morris, Jimmy Turner, and George Garrett Jr.

Miss Morris, an Elementary Education major, is a senior at Hendrix. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Morris.

Mr. Turner, a junior psychology major, was a participant in Orientation '70 and is a member of the president's five-year planning committee. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Turner.

Mr. Garrett is a senior biology major, and was formerly a member of Alpha Tau, a freshman-sophomore honor society. He is a member of Alpha Epsilon Delta, a national premedical honor fraternity, also. Garrett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Garrett.

Compromise on Safety Measures

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is preparing to compromise with auto manufacturers on the hotly contested issue of safety devices that automatically protect car occupants in crashes, it was learned today.

Administration officials close to the auto safety program said the Department of Transportation will hold to its July 1, 1973, deadline for beginning installation of so-called air bags.

But the department will exempt lighter-weight car models from the deadline and probably will adjust the timetable for installing the inflatable cushions in all seating positions, these officials said.

"We're determined to maintain our credibility but not put smaller auto manufacturers out of business," said one highly placed source.

Automakers' aggressive resistance to the air bag deadline has become the major test of the Transportation Department's intentions on car safety enforcement.

The government twice has postponed deadlines for installing the inflatable bags first from Jan. 1, 1972, to Jan. 1, 1973, then to July 1, 1973. The 1973 date would apply to 1974 model cars.

Bethlehem to Go Ahead With Price Boost

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — The Bethlehem Steel Co. says it will go ahead with plans to boost prices of steel used in construction work and shipbuilding despite an indication from President Nixon that he might raise quotas on imported steel if the increases are implemented.

A statement released Wednesday also said the Nixon administration knew of the proposed increases in advance. The company said the administration gave no indication it "would react as strongly as it did."

The rate changes on four major types of steel, announced Monday, amount to boosts of 11 to 13 per cent. They are to take effect March 1. Bethlehem is the nation's second largest steel producer. The items involved account for one-sixth of the industry's total output.

The company said Stewart S. Cort, Bethlehem chairman, met prior to the hike announcement with Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Cort advised McCracken of the pending announcement and nothing in the conversation suggested the administration would react as it did, the statement said.

"The decision to increase prices was a business judgment," it continued, "and Bethlehem has no plans to rescind."

At the Western White House, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren confirmed that McCracken and Cort met Monday, and that Cort informed McCracken of the company's intention to announce higher prices.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, said Tuesday Nixon was "deeply concerned" by Bethlehem's action.

So far only a small producer, Lukens Steel Co. of Coatesville, Pa., has followed Bethlehem's rate change. The Lukens decision was made before the White House comment.

The nation's largest producer, U.S. Steel has said it was studying the matter.

Proposes to Nationalize Railways

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) —

Charles Luna, president of the United Transportation Union, says he thinks Congress is in a mood to nationalize the railroads, and he is proposing such a step if current labor disputes are not settled by March 1.

The UTU, with 280,000 members, is the largest union involved in the dispute. It took part in the brief national rail strike Dec. 10, but directed its members to end their work stoppage when ordered to do so by a federal court.

Luna said Wednesday he would prefer to handle labor disputes with the railroads by negotiation, but declared:

"If the federal courts and Congress continue to deprive railroad employees of their right to exercise their economic strength, the UTU will call upon Congress to enact legislation to nationalize the railroads and bring them under control of the federal government."

He said the proposal was unanimously approved by 60 of his union's leaders at a meeting which began here Monday.

Luna said the UTU would have the nationalization measure introduced by a member of Congress unless its differences with the railroads were settled by the end of February.

He told newsmen he thought the legislators would be receptive because of requests for railroad subsidies, the Penn-Central financial crisis and other industry problems.

Must Report ASCS Payments to Farmers

As required by law, ASCS must report to the Internal Revenue Service all program payments made to farmers during 1970 under ACP, cotton, feed grain wheat, and other direct payment programs, according to Ralph Montgomery, Chairman of the Hempstead County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee. This report will include payments made direct, assigned, or to U.S. Government agencies for any debt owed. It will not include commodity loans, commodity purchases, resale storage payments, or ACP cost-share payments to a vendor on a purchase order.

The Chairman also said that as an additional service, farmers will receive a notice (or Notices) covering the amount reported to IRS. This notice will be prepared on Form CCC-182 and will be mailed during the last two weeks of January. A separate CCC-182 will be mailed for each county from which you received a payment and will show payments made only in that county. Some farmers will also receive a supplemental report on Form CCC-182-1 from each applicable county. This supplemental report will include additional program payments, if any, which were not included on Form CCC-182 but which will be included in the report to IRS. Farmers receiving one or both of these notices are reminded to carefully read the explanation on the form and check the total amounts on all the notices received against your records to see that the amount reported is correct. If you find that the amount is not correct, or if you have any questions regarding the form, you should contact the county ASCS office from which the payment was received, the Chairman said. Mr. Montgomery stated that it was the hope of the county committee that this report of program payments will be of assistance to farmers in the preparation of their income tax returns.

Aswan Dam to Be Dedicated in Egypt

By ALY MAHMOUD Associated Press Writer CAIRO (AP) — Fifteen years after the United States refused to help President Gamal Abdel Nasser build the Aswan high dam, Nasser's successor and Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny will dedicate the huge Nile River flood control and power project. The dedication Friday coincides with Nasser's birthday.

He conceived the project and pushed it nearly to completion before his death from a heart attack last Sept. 28. At the urging of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, the U.S. government refused in 1956 to grant Egypt funds for the dam which forced Nasser to seek aid from the Soviet Union. The Kremlin contributed $260 million of the $735 million the project cost. About 200 Soviet engineers also assisted in the construction which began in 1960. Ultimately Nasser came to depend on the Kremlin to arm and train his military forces. His successor, President Anwar Sadat, greeted Podgorny and Russian officials with him Wednesday at Cairo Airport. The two men were to meet today to discuss the Arab-Israeli situation before flying to Aswan tonight. The dam site, more than 400 miles up the Nile from Cairo, was decorated with thousands of red flags and banners hailing "Russian-Egyptian friendship." The city of Aswan glittered with lights powered by the dam's generators, which produce 10 billion kilowatt hours of electricity annually. The dam project, one of the largest in the world, is laid out in four major sections.
